

In today's volatile markets it is becoming more and more critical that your institutional investment clients have on-demand access to their plan performance. Providing your clients with transparency and real-time access to plan data will allow you to proactively engage with your clients at a time when it's needed most. And only one system exists today that will allow you to accomplish that goal.

The InvestorForce Performance Reporting Network® (iPRN) is the most advanced and comprehensive analysis and performance management platform for the institutional investment community. The key to its power is the holistic approach InvestorForce has taken to fully integrate all of the key stakeholders in the institutional investment channel. Automated data collection and aggregation from custodial banks, money managers and industry sources, real-time access to plan data, powerful analytics at the account and composite level and the ability to quickly create "publish ready" performance reports at the click of a button, is what enables iPRN to stand apart from its competition.

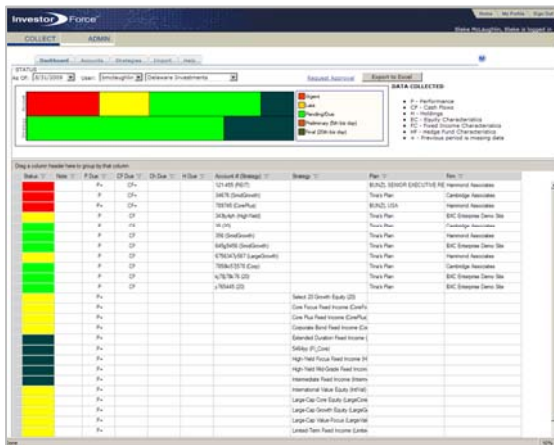

End to End Support for the Institutional Investment Channel

Even better, iPRN is a hosted, Software as a Service (SaaS) product, which means you have none of the IT infrastructure and support costs associated with "installed" software products. Not only will you be up and running on iPRN more quickly than other solutions, you will begin to see the enormous savings in time and effort required to report to your plan sponsors. You can even give your clients real time access to their data through InvestorForce Insight® and that will undoubtedly give you a competitive advantage.

Data Collection and Aggregation

It all begins with data and iPRN provides one of the most extensive and customizable data collection and aggregation facilities available today.

InvestorForce Collect® provides seamless integration to custodial banks and leading industry data sources allowing the platform to automatically collect all of the critical data needed to manage plan information on a daily basis.

Collecting and aggregating data from disparate sources is an extremely arduous task. InvestorForce Collect® removes that burden from your operations. Automated data collection combined with our advanced data normalization and mapping technology ensures that all data is properly connected to your accounts and aggregated at any composite levels you define.

Performance data at the account and strategy level can also be collected from money managers via Collect's innovative manager data collection system. A single, unified system that managers use to submit data streamlines the collection of account level performance data for both consultants and managers. A real time dashboard let's managers and consultants communicate and monitor status of the collection process. Best of all, the data is fully integrated into iPRN, eliminating the need to manually enter or manipulate this data.

Data Management and Advanced Analytics

Key to managing performance is having the capability to effectively organize data so that access and analysis, at whatever level is required, is efficient and easy. It is also important to be able to combine and aggregate data in ways that provide new insights and reveal answers to challenging questions. That includes support for historical data, which can be easily loaded into the InvestorForce Performance Reporting Network®.

iPRN provides you with unparalleled flexibility in structuring your client's data for optimal performance management and reporting. From data at the security level to customized account aggregations, iPRN allows you to build the composites you need, the custom benchmarks that make sense and apply more than 100 analytics to whatever level of data aggregation is appropriate. And, we understand that no two clients are the same; that their requirements and approach to portfolio management will be different. iPRN allows you to customize the composite groupings for each plan and the analytics you apply so that you can manage and report performance in a way that's most meaningful to your clients.

Access and Reporting

The InvestorForce Performance Reporting Network® delivers solutions to two of the most important challenges facing institutional investment consultants and plan sponsors. Access to plan data in real-time and automated production of formal performance reporting books at the end of each reporting period.

With the world economic environment experiencing extreme volatility, 90 to 120 days of not knowing how your portfolio is performing is no longer acceptable. In today's world, plan sponsors need access to their plan data in real time, to better manage risk and become more proactive in managing investment strategies.

InvestorForce Insight® is a web based tool that provides plan sponsors real-time access to their data. Complete transparency, alignment with strategies, historical plan and account performance and access to daily position and transaction data are just some of the ways InvestorForce

Insight® can help plan sponsors and investment consultants better navigate the turbulent waters that are today's markets. InvestorForce Insight® is fully integrated with the InvestorForce Performance Reporting Network®, meaning that you get real-time access to industry-wide data from a single source.

Formal performance reporting to plan sponsors has historically been a time consuming, inefficient and laborious process. InvestorForce has introduced a paradigm shift in plan performance reporting. InvestorForce Report® is the most comprehensive and automatic performance reporting tool available today. End of period, "publish ready" performance reports can be produced in minutes, not days or more commonly weeks, after the period close.

Using our advanced report designer, you can create beautiful, customized performance report templates that can be saved and run time and time again. Fully integrated with our comprehensive performance database you can select from over 100 analytics that you can drag and drop onto your report template. Add free form text, other documents and annotations to complete your performance package. Output your finished reports to PDF for easy distribution.

Performance reporting has never been this easy, this efficient and certainly not this impressive. Eliminate the stress, cost and drudgery of performance reporting with InvestorForce Report®

Advanced Technology

The InvestorForce Performance Reporting Network® is the most advanced platform for the institutional investment consultant market available today. Delivered via a SaaS (Software as a Service) model, you won't need to worry about technical infrastructure, hardware, support resources and the high cost of installing and maintaining a complex software environment.

InvestorForce hosts iPRN and all of its companion products in its highly available, state-of-the-art data center. You simply subscribe to the performance network and all of its available functionality is accessible anywhere, anytime via an Internet connection. Even better, iPRN is already deployed, so you can come up live faster than with traditional "installed" software solutions.
